MIGHLY IMPORTANT FROM EUROPE. A TRIPLE ALLIANCE AGAINST THE UNITED STATES.

A BIG WAR IN PROSPECT.

LONDON, May 12.—Initiatory steps have been taken for an alliance, both offensive and defensive, between England, France and Spain against the United States. This measure, it is understood, is taken in view of the rejection of the Alabama treaty, the tone of Sumner's speech, the alleged filibustering tendencies of Grant's administration, and the reported connivance of the United States authorities with expeditions against Cuba.

THE CATHOLIC HIERARCHY.

Pastoral Letter of Archbishop Spalding and the Suffragan Prelates of the Baltimore Council—Their Views on Purely Secular Education—Infanticide one of the Alleged Results-The Religious Interests of the Colored Race,

The pastoral letter of Archbishop Spalding and the Suffragan prelates of the province of Baltimore, at the close of the tenth Provincial Council, May, 1869, was read in the Catholic Churches of Baltimore, on Sunday last. On the subject of education the letter says:

Bitter experience convinces us daily more and more what a purely secular education, to the exclusion of a religious training, is not only an imperfect system, but is attended with the most disastrous consequences to the individual and to society. Among Catholics there expect be two convinces about this subject, and vidual and to society. Among Catholics there cannot be two opinions about this subject, and we are happy to see that this practical truth is beginning to find acceptance also in the minds of reflecting men among our separated brethren. While we are gratified at witnessing so many intelligent persons throughout the country embracing the true faith, we are obliged to confess with sorrow that a greater results. try embracing the true faith, we are obliged to confess with sorrow that a greater number are lost to the church. There is no exaggeration in saying now what Bishop England felt it his sacred duty to state many years ago, that hundreds, nay thousands, of souls annually stray away from the fold in this country on account of their early religious education. If we look for the descendants of those numerous Catholic families which have emigrated to this country during the past and present century, we will find that many of them have wandered away from the faith of their fathers, and not a we will find that many of them have wandered away from the faith of their fathers, and not a few of them are now ranked among the most active and unrelenting enemies of the Church of God. The only way to arrest this evil which we deplore, is to make ample provision for the moral and religious training of our youth.

The clergy are exhorted to establish parochial schools everywhere as soon as practicable. Under the head of the "Murder of the Innocents," the Bishop expresses the following strong language :

strong language:

The abiding interest all feel in the preservation of the morals of our country constrains us to raise our voice against the daily increasing practice of infanticide, especially before birth. The notoriety which this monstrous crime has obtained of late, and the hecatom's of infants that are annually sacrified to Moloch to gratify an unlawful passion, are a sufficient justification for our alluding to a painful and delicate subject, which should not even be mentioned among Christians. We may observe that the crying sin of infanticide is most prevalent in those focalities where the system of education without religion has been longest established, and been most successfully carried out. The inhuman crime might be compared to the murder of the "Innocents," except that the criminals in this case exceed in enormity the cruelty of Herod. If it is a sin to take away the life even of an enemy; if the crime of way the life even of an enemy; if the crime of shedding innocent blood cries to Heaven for vengeance, in what language can we characterize the double guilt of those whose souls are stained with the innocent blood of their own unborn, unregenerate offspring.

The murder of an infant before its birth is, in the sight of God and of his Church, as great a crime as would be the killing of a child after birth, with this aggravating circumstance,
that in the former case the unborn child dies decrived of the essential grace of spatism. deprived of the essential grace of baptism. No mother is allowed, under any circumstances, to permit the death of her unborn infant, not even for the sake of preserving her own life, because the end never justifies the means; and we must not do evil that good may come from it. We confidently believe that you beloved children in Christ, are strangers to this unnatural vice. Our words, therefore, are language rather of warning than of reproof. The dan-gerous amusements, prominent among the evils we have to deplore, and which is an evievils we have to deplore, and which is an evidence of the growing hentiousness of the times, may be reckoned a morbid taste for indecent publications, and the frequency of immoral or positively obscene theatrical performances. No entertainments seem sufficient to satisfy the fast degenerating spirit of the age, unless they be highly sensational, and calculated to gratify the most prurient appetites. We can hardly say who deserve a stronger condemnation—the actors who pander to the most vitiated tastes, or the audience who encourage, by their presence, and applied these grossly indelicate exhibitions. Both actors and spectators appear to vie with each in their rapid march down the slippery path of sin. We deem it particularly pery path of sin. We deem it particularly our solemn duty to renew our warning against the modern fashionable dapees, commonly called 'German,' or round dances, which are called 'German,' or round dances, which are becoming more and more the occasions of sins. These practices are so mush the more dangerous, as most persons seem to look upon them as harmless, and indulge in them without any apparent remorse of conscience. But divine revelation, the wisdom of antiquity, the light of reason and of experience, all contain in proclaiming that these kind of entertainments scannot be indulged in by any virtuous persons, unless they be more than human, without detriment to their souls, or even be present to take part in such amusements, where the eyes.

take part in such amusements, where the is dazaled by an array of fascinating obje where the senses are captivated by euchant where the senses are captivated by enchanting music, and the heart is awayed to and fro amid the surrounding gaiety and excitement. Under the head of "Our Colored Brethren,

the prelates say :

the prelates say:

As the father of the late plenary council thought it expedient that all measures to be adopted for the religious improvement of the colored race should be referred to the provisional councils, we deem it our duty in the present instance to invite your attention to this important subject. Our colored brethren should have a large share in the exercise of our zeal, particularly in those sections of the province where they are more numerically congregated. Our Heavenly Father, whose benign providence walches over the humblest of His creatures on earth, as well as over the highest angels in Heaven, enjoins on the pastors of his Church the duty of ministering with equal care to the lewly and the great. God forbid that we should exercise less vigilance in laboring for the salvation of those immortal souls whom God created in those immortal souls whom God created in his own image and likeness, and for whom his only begotten Son did not disdain to die. The Church, while careful never unduly to disturb the established relations existing between the different classes of society, makes no distinction of persons in the distribution of her heavenly gifts, and she honors alike her devoted missionaries whether they evangelize the white race like St. Francis De Sales, or the Janages like St. Francis De Sales, or the persons its Sales. white race like St. Francis De Sales, or the Japanese like St. Francis Xavier, or the negro slave of Carthagena like blessed Peter Claver. O, let us then, like our glorious model, St. Paul, become weak to the weak, that we may gain the weak; let us become all things to all men, that we may save all; remembering that, like him, we are debtors to all—the Greek and barbarian, to Jew and Gentile, to bond and free. The colored people are tractable, and generally grateful for our ministration. Their unsettled and abnormal condition, necessarily arising from their andden emancipation, should the more actively excite our sympathy. We the more actively excite our sympathy. We that are stronger ought to bear with the infirmities of the weak. We therefore desire that separate cohools and churches be estab-lished for the blacks wherever they may be deemed practicable and expedient. Where special schools are not erected for them, every fa-cility should be afforded for their religious and moral training as far as circumstances will per-

The letter closes with congratulations to the Pope, and says the reign of Pius IX, who now happily occupies the chair of St. Peter, will be one of the most noted in the annals of the Church, whether we consider the long duration through which he has passed, or the sublime of the council representing the States of Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia West Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia

WHITE HOUSE INTRIGUES.

A Venerable Parent's Youthful Flirtatation and the Consequences-Early Love Rewarded with a Fat Office, &c.

Don Piatt writes from New York to the Cinnati Commercial as follows:

nati Commercial as follows:

It is really refreshing in this day of fierce competition for office, when the struggling thousands remorselessly trample each other down, to meet with one kind, impulsive nature, full of milk ss an Alderney cow, and impulsive as a bey. Such a nature is the venerable Jesse, "the flower"—I beg pardon, the father—of our beloved and cherished chief magistrate. This good old man has seen many years of troubled life, and, although winters of many years have silvered his venerable head, his heart is as youthful and fresh as in his of many years have silvered his venerable head, his heart is as youthful and fresh as in his early spring-time, when he was a beau among the girls and an athlete among the men.

I have just heard an instance of this from the Professor, who is here studying music at the Fifth Avenue Opers House, and perfecting the beauther the listering to the sweet.

ench accept by listening to the sweet voices of Tostee and Irma. The instance renews my admiration of the venerable Mr. Grant. He is such a dear old gentleman. It seems that during the summer that proceded the Presidential election, the old gentleman revisited some scenes of his youth that exist about Ravenna, Portage County, Ohio. When he was a sportive young man, he loved and counted a faciniting cirl. But alack and he was a sportive young man, he loved and courted a fascinating girl. But, alack and alas! the course of true love did not run smooth. In fact, it run over a dam, or several damns, and falling on the rocks below, solit all to pieces. To come down from my symbolical comparison, the gay young Jesse, the flower, &c., was jitted.

He returned to find his former love an aged widow, with a family of children, one of these a girl—no, not exactly a girl, but a young widow, looking as much like her fascinating mother at the same age.

Is not this b autiful? Does it not read like a fairy tale? What a charming thing Offenbach could make of it. He would shift the scene to a later day, after the 4th of March, indeed, so as to bring in the Presidential mansion, with General Dent, high custodian of the card-basket and guardian of the boot-jack, and the two would have been seen as the series of the s card-basket and gurdian of the boot-jack, and the smoking President. And the two would sing a comic song, with a lively chorus from the office-seekers, and then all would break into the carcan. But I digress.

The old gentleman saw his former love, and to conceal his tumultuous feelings, jested with

"Ain't you sorry," he said, "that you refused me; you might be now the mother of the General, and may be the President?"

The old lady laughed, and merrily assented.
"Never mind," the old man oried; "I will take the same care of you as if you were my wife. Who's your Congressman?"

"General Garfield." "Ah! that Rosecrans' feller Well, I'll take the patronage of this district in my own hands. I'll make your daughter postmaster of this lowe."

The good people took this as a merry jest from the kind-hearted old mae, and thought no more of it. The election came off, and after the inauguration the citizens moved to turn out the Johnson postmaster and put in a good Republic n. The election was held, and the victorious candidate sent on his credentials to General Garfield. That excellent gentleman proposed to file the same, with an earnest reproposed to file the same, with an earnest recommendation. Before this could be written, he read, with blank amazement, in the Chronicle, that the name of Mrs. —— had been sent in by the President. To catch a hack and hurry up to the White House was the work of a few minutes. General Garfield stands very high in the estimation of the administration,
and he was at once admitted.

"Does he know that this young woman is not only unqualified—that she is entirely incapable, through lack of education, to carry on the office

but there is great indignation in Raveuma over her appointment?"
"I can't 'say indeed," responded the President, "but I certainly don't wish to appoint such a person to office."
"Will you recall the nomination, then, Mr.

President, and permit me to leave with you the papers of the successful candidate?"
"If you will have the confirmation delayed for awhile, I will certainly send in the name of the gentleman you recommend."

General Garfield hastened to the Senate, saw the committee, and had the young widow superseded. But the venerable Jesse heard of perseded. But the venerable Jesse heard of this interference of the "Bosycrauze man" in his bit of tender solicitude, and intervened. Not at all staggered by the fact that the daugh-ter of his love could not read writing, he at once made arrangements with the defeated candidate in the election, to go into the office and do the duties thereof, at a reasonable com-and do the duties thereof, at a reasonable compensation, while the fair widow enjoys the profits. With this understanding the daughter of the old love was confixmed.

Could anything be more tender, touching and beautiful than this? The venerable Jesse is an oasis in a desort. He is the greenest thing to be found in the dry waters of politics.
Let us be thankful, however, that he was not a Don Juan, and had few loves.

SUICIDE OF A GERMAN ACTRESS IN SAN FRANCISCO.

At about half-past 5 o'clock last evening,
Mrs. Olgo Von Pintersdorff committed suicide at her residence on Kearny-street, between Vallejo and Green streets, by taking prussic acid, and died in about an hour after taking the fatal draught.

This is perhaps one of the most distressing
cases of suicide that has occurred in this city for some titre, and, judging from the antecedents of the deceased lady, it is not unlikely that the act was committed under circumstances which must call forth the commiseration and sympathy of all. Mrs. Von Pittersdorff was born in Germany, and was of noble blood.
She was heirees to and inherited a princely fortune, but having adopted the stage at an early age she spent the greater part of her early age she spent the greater part of her wealth in the accumulation of a wardrobe, which she afterward disposed of in this city. Among them was the "Queen's robe," a dress of beautiful crimson satin, trimmed with er-mine and gilt medallions; chantilly dresses and velvets of every color.

Her adoption of the stage arose not from different European cities where Mrs. Von Plit-tersdorff appeared she was always well received, and was not only considered a success, but achieved a high reputation, and such a one as she might well feel proud of. Atter she had followed her profession she got married, but her husband failing, she determined to visit America and bring him with het. She did so, and again adopted the s age as a means of re-gaining at least a portion of the money she had spent, and of obtaining a living. But it ap-pears she met with only very indifferent suc-cess. She then left the East and came to Calicess. She then left the East and came to California, where fortune seemed to smile still more unfavorably upon her, for about six recks ago she lost her husband. The death of her husband uppeared to have borne heavily upon her she not only renounced her favorite profession, but she flung aside her openly robes and javels and appeared in a queenly robes and jowels and appeared in a suit of solemn black, and even wished that she, too, were dead—was resting beside him whom she loved dearly and well—for whom she had sacrificed a home and a fortune, and trod the shores of a distant land.

Even in death she loved him with a feeling which calls forth our sympthy and our admiration. Up to the time of her death, we are informed, she visited the grave of her husband daily, decorating it with flowers and with her tears. Since his death she sold all her rich of his pontificate, the momentous events which have occurred during the trials and vicissitudes through which have signalized his glorious career. The residence of Mr. G. G. Crawford was entered and robbed, on last Sunday night, while the family was at church, of a gun, several articles of clothing, &c. No clue to the thieves. The Marion Star of Wednesday says: "A disbolical effort was made on Saturday night last to murder and rob F. A. Miles, Esq., one of our most respected and exemplary citizens, residing at Milesville, eix miles west of the villare. The facts as related to us are these: Saturday night, about twelve o'clock, just as Mr. Miles closed his store door, and before he had time to bolt it, two men, apparently black, forced the door open, and with pistols and had time to bolt it, two men, apparently black, forced the door open, and with pistols and bowie knives, made a murderous and deadly onslaught on him, shooting and cutting with a heavy knife at the same time. Mr. Miles, who is the very soul of courage, selzed a chair near by, determined to seli his life as dear as possible, but such was the proximity of the assassins that the toward his black was a professive; but the the force of his blow was uneffective; he then seized a double-barrelled gun, which was instantly grasped by one of the robbers, who prevented any effective use of it by Mr. Miles—the other murderer all the while using bis knife with telling effect. Mr. Miles closed in with both of them, and the fight continued until the parties crossed the raclroad some thirty or forty feet from the store door, when the gun was wrenched from the hands of Mr. Miles, and he was felled to the ground and left in a senseless condition. In the meantime Mr. Miller, the clerk, had been shot through the arm and stabbed twice. Mr. Miles received three dangerous wounds with a knife on his head, one of which in the back part renders his condition very critical. After the as-assins had succeeded in knocking they ran off, leaving a pair of shoes, a hat and pistol, all of which have been identified as be onging to the parties arrested and lodged in jail. Sheriff Collins, with commendable promptness, as soon as the intelligence of the affair reached him, took a voluntary posse, and repaired to Mr. Miles' store, and before the sun set had a rested and lodged in jail two white men, Ned and James Wiggius, brothers, young and stalwart, between the ages of twenty and twenty-five, to whom the finger of suspicion points as the cowardly perpetrators. Of weather and crops the Star says: "Since our last issue we have had reconstructed weather, if cold, chilly nights and frosty mornings are evidences of reconstruction. Last sil. Sheriff Collins, with commendable prompt in any of its forms; also Rheumatism, acute an chronic; Gout, Lead Poisoning in any form, Nervous Affections, Debility, and Chronic Discases gener weater, it could not have a substantial weater, it could not have mornings are evidences of reconstruction. Last Wednesday there was quite a hallstorm in the neighborhood of Gaddy's Mills. Cotton is coming up badly and looking sickly. We bear of some of our planters who are replanting."

May 11 tuths H. D. ALEXANDER, Cashier. WITH DYSPEPTICS EVERYTHING IS WRONG. Food doe not digest; sleep does not refresh; wines do no oueer; smiles do net gladden; music does not charm, nor can any other joy enter the breast of the mi erable dyspeptic. You must get rid of it, or it will become s-ated and confirmed, and TATION BITTERS will do away with all this. New life, strength and energy will take possession of you. The damask will again bloom upon your cheek, and the lustes in your eye will again be as bright as in your healthiest, happiest and most joyous days.

MAGNOLIA WATER .- Superior to the best imported German Cologne, and sold at half the price.

LET US PROTECT OURSELVES .-The physical structure of the strongest human be ing is vulnerable everywhere. Our bodies are endowed by exture with a certain negative power, which protects them, to some extent, from unwhole some influences; but this protection is imperfect and cannot be safely relied on in unhealthy regions, or under circumstances of more than ordinary danger. Therefore, it is wisdom, it is prudence, it is commou sense to provide against such continge by fortifying the system with HOSTETTER'S STO MACH BITTERS-the most complete protective against all the epidemic and endemic maladi-s that has ever been administered in any country. As a remedy for Dyspepsis, there is no medicine that will compare with it. Whoever suffers the pangs of indigestion, anywhere on the face of the earth where HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS can be procured, does so voluntarily; for, as surely as truth exists, this invaluable roxic and ALTERATIVE would restore his disordered stomach to a healthy condi tion. To the nervous it is also especially recomnended, and in cases of confirmed constipation it also affords speedy and permanent relief. In all cases of fever and ague the BITTERS is more potent than any amount of quinine, while the nost dangerous cases of bilious fever yield to its wonderful properties Those who have tried the medicine will never use another, for any of the ailpents which the HOSTETTER BITTERS profess to subdue. To those who have not made the ex periment we cordially recommend an early appli eation to the BITTERS whenever they are by disease of the digestive organs.
